

COVID 19 symptoms

Should your child or anyone else who lives in your household develop symptoms of coronavirus, then all household members must stay at home and not leave the house for 14 days.

The symptoms include a high temperature (37.8C), a new continuous cough (this means coughing a lot, for more than an hour, or 3 or more coughing episodes in 24 hours) and a loss or change to sense of smell and taste.

The 14-day period starts from the day when the first person in the house became ill. For anyone in the household who starts displaying symptoms, they need to stay at home for 7 days from when the symptoms appeared, regardless of what day they are on in the original 14 day isolation period.

Further to this, if a child within the bubble develops symptoms of coronavirus, then all other staff and children in the bubble will need to self-isolate for 14 days. Parents will be required to collect their child immediately.

To ensure that this is possible, parents sending their children in will be required to update their contact list to include at least two contact numbers, one of which must be local at all times.
